RECONSTRUCTION COMMISSION MAKES REPORT

Would Simplify State Machinery, Have Cabinet For Governor and Executive Budget—Must Adopt New Method Says Smith.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, Feb 10.—Reorganization of the state government to provide for a simplification of governmental machinery and for responsible administrative control by means of a cabinet system of administration and effective financial control through an executive budget, is proposed in legislation sought by Governor Smith and his reconstruction commission. The governor last night transmitted to the legislature the report of the commission recommending such legislation.

In transmitting the report, Governor Smith predicted that with the present rate of increase the state budget in 1925 will total over $200,000,000.

"No more juggling with figures and resources can solve this problem or satisfy the people of this state who must pay an ever-increasing percentage of their incomes for the maintenance of the state government. the governor declares in support of his contention that the recommendations of the commission should be favored by the law makers.

MORE SNOW AND WIND IN N. Y.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Feb. 10—With the traffic conditions already at a standstill as a result of the recent blizzard, another heavy snow storm struck New York city early today. The snow fall was accompanied by a high wind which began to pile up new drifts in streets that already resembled scenes from the Swiss Alps.

The thermometer registered thirty degrees above zero.

Rapid progress had been made during the past twenty-four hours by an army of 12,000 snow shovelers and more than 1,000 trucks in clearing the main arteries of traffic, but today's storm presented new difficulties.

Two army flame throwers were tried out as a means of melting the snow and ice but they did not prove satisfactory.

NEW JERSEY ADOPTS SUFFRAGE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Trenton, N. J., Feb. 10.—The assembly of New Jersey legislature ratified the woman suffrage amendment by a vote of 34 to 24 early today after a four hour filibuster, led by Democrats, had failed. The state senate had ratified the amendment last week. The gallery was filled with women who cheered and waved suffrage banners when the result of the vote was announced this morning. New Jersey is the twenty-ninth state to ratify the amendment enfranchising women. Seven more state ratifications of the amendment are necessary to make the constitutional amendment effective.

WHEN JURORS CAN CLAIM EXEMPTION

The jury list for city court has been filed with City Judge Harry E. Schirick, and he has designated February 20 and 21, between 8 and 10 o'clock in the morning, as the time when he will hear claims for exemption from jury duty. The jury list filed with him contains the names of all property owners in the city. In another column will be found an advertisement calling attention to the days on which exemption claims are to be heard.

14 MORE FLU CASES REPORTED

This morning 14 new cases of influenza and three cases of pneumonia were reported to the board of health. This was the same number as reported Monday, making the total number of cases reported since the outbreak 347. The health board is still furnishing an hourly nurse service where needed, and physicians having cases needing nursing assistance should get in touch with the board's office at the city hall.

Below 200 Mark in Chicago.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Chicago, Feb. 10.—Influenza yesterday dropped below the 200 mark for the first time since the epidemic started. New cases reported totalled 187, as compared to 230 the day before. Seventy-seven deaths were reported, 40 from influenza and 37 from pneumonia, while new cases of the latter totalled 103.

LOCKETT SAVED FROM AVENGERS

Lexington, Strongly Guarded By Troops, Is Quiet Following Attempt To Lynch Child Murderer Lockett—5 Dead, 17 Wounded as Result of Monday's Clash.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Lexington, Ky., Feb. 10—Lexington breathed easier with the approach of dawn today. Despite reassuring statements issued late last night by General Marshall, in command of the first division regulars, there was general fear that another effort would be made under cover of darkness to take Will Lockett, negro murderer, from the county jail and precipitate a repetition of yesterday's clash which cost five lives and 17 wounded.

All night long the regulars, reinforced by state guardsmen and city policemen, were on the alert for any indication of trouble.

Prompt steps by General Marshall, in meeting a train bearing a large number of mountaineers from Breathett county, some miles distant from the city, is believed to have broken up any plans that may have been under way for an assault on the jail.

Outposts were established on all of the 12 pikes leading into Lexington and all persons turned back. A guard line extended about the court house at a distance of three blocks. All entering within this line were first searched.

In his cell in the county jail Lockett, under sentence to die in the electric chair, March 11, remained all through the night in a kneeling posture, his head in his hands A report that Lockett had been spirited away in a motor truck, his face whitened to disguise him, was denied by army officers although generally credited here by civilians. As soon as opportunity offers Lockett is to be taken to the Eddyville penitentiary.

Arrival here today of Major-General Charles F. Summerall to take over command of the situation was to be followed by a general search of the city for the ring leaders of yesterday's mob.

Two hundred additional regulars were to accompany General Summerall here.

Governor Edwin P. Morrow, over the telephone from Frankfort declared that the troops absolutely will preserve law and order no matter what the consequences may be.

WILL HEAR CLAIMS OF SERVICE MEN

J. K. Alverson, of the federal board for vocational education, 469 Fifth avenue, New York city, will be at the home service office, A. R. C., 42 Main street, Kingston, N. Y., on Thursday, February 12. Mr. Alverson will be glad to see all ex-service men who are receiving compensation and who are interested in federal training.

COLONIAL LEAGUE

Games Postponed to Next Tuesday Evening.

The games this week in the Colonial Basketball League have been postponed until a later date. The games scheduled for Wednesday evening will be played next Tuesday evening, February 17. The continuing of the Legion minstrels for an extra night makes this change necessary. Corrals have their dance on Thursday and Rovers have a dance Friday. Friday's games will be played during the first part of Lent. After the games next Tuesday evening there will be dancing as usual, music by Shuster's orchestra. The teams playing that evening are Emeralds vs. Rovers and Pioneers vs. St. Peter's.

Washington, Feb 10.—The regular Tuesday meeting of President Wilson's cabinet was cancelled today because of the absence from the city of a number of members.

BRITAIN TO CURB DRINKING

Announces King George at Opening of Parliament—Parliament to Get Bill For Better Irish Government and Education—Must Stimulate Production to Stabilize Exchange.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, Feb. 10.—That Great Britain is preparing to curb her liquor traffic was revealed by King George today in his speech from the throne convening parliament.

"The war showed the danger of excessive drinking and a bill suitable for peace time regulation of alcoholic beverages is forthcoming," said the king.

King George appealed for peace in western Europe and Russia, saying:

"So long as these vast regions withhold their full contribution of the world's commodities, the cost of living can not be reduced, nor general prosperity restored throughout the world."

Touching on the acute Irish situation, King George declared that "conditions in Ireland cause me grave concern." He continued.

"But proposals will soon be laid before you for a better government in that country, such as were outlined at the end of the last session. Also a bill containing further provisions for education in Ireland will be submitted.

King George expressed the hope that peace would soon be effected with Hungary and Turkey and that the Adriatic controversy would be settled. He said that excellent relations prevail among the allies.

"I believe that the British empire is making rapid strides towards stability and prosperity, but it is essential for all classes to throw themselves into the work of reconstruction," said the king.

"The adverse exchange rates are menacing our food supply Therefore bills should be considered to stimulate production and develop the fishing industry."

The king's constructive recommendations included:

1—An enduring settlement of the coal miners controversy;

2—Alleviation of unemployment minimum wage, hours of employment and insurance;

3—Health insurance;

4—An anti-dumping measure to protect British goods;

5—Utilization of water-power;

6—Reforms in the House of Lords.

Premier Lloyd George was scheduled to begin speaking in the House of Commons late in the afternoon, when that body began its debate upon the king's address. Early forecasts were that the premier would review both the foreign and domestic situations, taking up the financial outlook, including the prospects for reducing the national budget, the Irish home-rule muddle, the coalition policy, Russian affairs, German relations as they exist in view of the hostility at Berlin against surrendering German officers demanded for trial, unemployment and the league of nations. Belief was also expressed that the premier would make some enlightening mention of the possibility of getting the ex-kaiser from Holland for trial.

Bitter assaults are expected to be made upon the government's new Irish bill, constituting parliaments for Ulster and South Ireland. Ireland, simmering with rebellion, never presented such a difficult problem to the British government as she does today. The labor party would accord Ireland self-rule, an antidote which many labor men are equally ready to accord Egypt and India.

The government's attitude towards the coal industry, which the miners are demanding be nationalized, is pregnant with trouble. During the parliamentary recess, the miners have conducted vigorous propaganda to "educate the country" to their views

A third situation which may put the government in an awkward position is the policy towards Russia, linked with the high cost of living and widespread profiteering. The labor party wants immediate resumption of relations with Russia as a means of cutting the cost of food and clothing.

The political situation as it stands at the resumption of parliamentary business is this:

The conservatives who form the coalition can not operate a government that the people will stand for without Lloyd George. At the same time the power of the labor party is steadily growing with the labor leaders supporting a clear cut moderate program which they desire to put into effect without any compromise with the coalition. Even members of the Lloyd George cabinet have recognized that something must be done to give a new complexion to parliament and suggestions for the formation of a new "national" or "center party" have come through Lord Birkenhead, the Lord Chancellor, and Winston S. Churchill, secretary of war. Such a scheme, they argue, would give parliament new blood and still retain the more valuable elements of the coalition.

Free Seed Wins in House.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Feb. 10.—Friends of free seed won their annual fight in the house yesterday by defeating, 156 to 71, a motion to eliminate from the agricultural bill an appropriation of $223,000 for seed distribution to their constituents at government expense.

LEGISLATURE MAKING NO LAWS

Complete Tie-up Caused by Socialist Hearings to Continue for Two Weeks—Even Prohibition Bills and Rescinding of Ratification in Background.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, Feb. 10.—The 1920 legislature has yet to get down to its actual work of making laws for the state.

Investigation of the five suspended Socialist assemblymen by the assembly judiciary committee has effectually tied up work in both houses. The tie-up promises to continue for at least another two weeks. Then, if the lawmakers want to get out of Albany before May, they will be obliged to work at full speed.

The standing committees in both houses have been practically idle since the Socialist trial got under way. Bottled up in some of them is the most important legislation the legislature will be called upon to enact. Notably are several measures dealing with prohibition which is still a live issue.

The senate judiciary committee has yet to act on a concurrent resolution introduced by Senator Kenneth F. Sutherland, of Queens, which asks rescinding of the ratification action on the federal prohibition amendment by the last legislature and purposes to put the wet and dry question to a vote by the people at a special spring election.

A similar resolution has been offered in the house by Assemblyman Martin G. McCue of New York. This has also been referred to the judiciary committee.

There are two important prohibition enforcement bills before the legislature, one backed by the Anti-Saloon League and the other by Republican leaders who are interested in continuance of the state excise commission. The first, known as the Thompson-Slacer bill, is practically the Volstead act rewritten to conform with conditions in this state, with the exception that it provides no bureau for enforcement. The second, known as the Gage bill, retains the excise commission as an enforcement body, defines one-half per cent of alcohol as the maximum content of non-intoxicating beverages, and generally lays down rules for enforcement. The Thompson-Slacer bill has practically been put in the discard by action of the dry leaders in putting their support back of the Gage bill.

There is believed to be a strong possibility that neither of these bills will become a law, and the compromise is expected to be legislation opening the state courts to violations of the federal enforcement act, which is designed to clear up the congestion in the four federal district courts in this state.

Still another move on the prohibition question is a resolution in the senate finance committee asking the appointment of a legislative committee to determine the question of the amount of alcohol necessary to render a beverage intoxicating.

Resolutions which would put the legislature on record as favoring immediate ratification by congress of a peace treaty are also in committee.

The minimum wage and the eight hour day bills, constituting a part of the social welfare program, are waiting disposition. There is also the Thompson bill creating a state commission to regulate the milk industry, which drew fire last week from the State Grange.

These are the most important measures of the over 300 bills introduced in the senate and the more than 400 offered in the assembly.

CONTINUE FIGHT FOR SPA WATERS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, N. Y. Feb. 10.—Condemnation of water rights at Saratoga Springs is being planned by the state, as a result of the adverse decision in the court of appeals in the famous fight between the state and a private corporation for control of the waters at the Spa.

Officials of the conservation commission and legislature leaders are convinced that condemnation is necessary to protect the state's large investments in the reservation. Action will be taken before March 1 when the company controlling sale of the waters, plans to begin business.

Won Diamond Ring.

The handsome diamond ring offered by the Brotherhood of Boilermakers and Iron Shipbuilders for conspicuous service in the recent bazaar was awarded on Saturday evening in Columbus Hall to E. Emmick of 14 Lindsley avenue, Kingston. A large crowd was present when the announcement was made. With this over, the bazaar of the union which was conducted in co-operation with the A. W. Davis Bazaar Co., comes to a close, the last of the promises of the company being fulfilled. Though the bazaar experienced the worst weather of the season it was a financial success and will be the forerunner of many similar events in the future.—Newburgh News.

VAN NAMEE TO SUCCEED FENNELL

Governor Smith Nominates His Secretary For $15,000 Job on P. S. C.—Fennell Conducted Hearings Here On Broadway Crossing Matter.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, Feb. 10.—Gov. Smith nominated Monday night his secretary, George R. Van Namee, to be a member of the Up-State Public Service Commission for a full term of five years at $15,000 a year. He will succeed Thomas F. Fennell of Elmira, a Republican, whose term expires February 10. The nomination was sent to the Senate.

Mr. Van Namee, whose home is in Watertown, has been secretary of the Democratic State Committee for several years. Before he became secretary to the governor he was a member of the Legislative Bill Drafting Commission. He was clerk of the Assembly in 1913, and in 1911 served as its clerk The nomination of Mr. Van Namee came as a surprise. He had not been considered in the running for the place. The name of W. W. Farley, chairman of the Democratic State Committee, had been mentioned several times for the post.

Gov. Smith has named Edward F. Boyle, who was a defeated candidate for Borough President of Manhattan, for a full term of six years as State Industrial Commissioner at $8,000 a year. The governor also nominated Cyrus W. Phillips of Rochester, now a Deputy Industrial Commissioner, to fill out the term of the late John Mitchell, which expires January 1, 1921. Mr. Phillips is a Republican.

Thomas F. Fennell, who has been succeeded by George R. Van Namee, as Public Service Commissioner is well-known in Kingston, having held hearings at the City Hall on the elimination of the West Shore crossing on Broadway.

MRS. FAVRE TELLS OF KILLING

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Feb. 10.—Dry-eyed and without any show of emotion, Mrs. Emily Favre, 34 years old, told today how she had killed her 12 year old daughter, Emily Margaret, while she was asleep.

"Margaret was asleep," she said. "I watched her a long time before I did it. Then I felt for her heart and pointed the pistol there. I watched her to be sure she was dead. Then I crawled into bed with her. Several times I decided to kill myself but the determination always left me."

The tragedy occurred last Saturday and the mother stayed in bed with her dead child until yesterday, when the murder was discovered.

"What did I do all that time?" she repeated after a question.

"Why, I was just thinking all the time. Indeed, I did love her, but I was tired of life, just tired."

The mother said she killed her child because she was sickly and medicines seemed to do her no good. Mrs. Favre and her daughter came here from New Orleans several months ago. She had sought work as a motion picture actress but was unsuccessful. She will be arraigned today on a charge of murder.

MARTENS HEARING

Shoved Aside in Senate by Treaty Consideration.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Feb. 10.—Possible consideration of the peace treaty has postponed for the present hearings on the activities of L. C. A. K. Martens, "ambassador" of Soviet Russia, before the senate sub-committee of the foreign relations committee.

Senator Moses, chairman of the sub-committee, announced today that hearings will be resumed when the hearings on the treaty are completed on the floor, or will not interfere.

K. H. S. Parent-Teachers' Meeting.

The regular meeting of the Parent-Teachers' Association of the high school will be held tomorrow evening at 7:45 o'clock at the high school. Mr. Buley, the physical instructor at the high school, will tell of his work among the student body, and following his talk there will be an open discussion in which the parents are asked to take an active part. Questions about the work will also be in order. It is hoped that there will be a large attendance of the parents as this question of the physical well being of high school boys and girls is a very vital one.

NUORTEVA WAS A SOCIALIST

Secretary to "Ambassador" Martens of Soviet Russia Shown by State to Have Carried Card in Party Here—Expulsion of at Least 4 of 5 Under "Trial" Predicted.

By Telegraph to The Freeman

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 10.—Efforts to link up the Socialist party of America with the soviet government of Russia were made today by attorneys for the state in the investigation into the fitness of five New York Socialists to sit in the state assembly.

Julius Gerber, executive secretary of the New York county branch of the Socialist party, was on the stand under examination by the state's counsel. A membership card in the Socialist party was introduced, showing that one Santeri Nuorteva, who Gerber described as a "Finn" was a regularly constituted member of the party.

"Isn't it a fact," asked Attorney Sutherland, "that Nuorteva came to this country as a representative of the soviet government of Russia?"

"It is not," replied Gerber.

Nuorteva is now secretary to Ludwig Christian Karl Martens, the so-called soviet ambassador.

"Mr. Nuorteva resigned from the Socialist party when he became secretary to Mr. Martens," said Gerber. "He was a member of a local at 64 East 128th street and officially resigned."

Gerber testified that Nuorteva came to the New York Socialists via the transfer route and that he first joined the party in Portland, Ore.

The proceedings today were much delayed by arguments by opposing counsel over the admission and reading of voluminous records in the Victor Berger case and the Lusk committee investigation into "Red" activities Because of the press of legislative business which necessitated a regular sitting of the assembly, a two-hour adjournment was taken at noon with Gerber still occupying the stand.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 10.—The fourth week of the state assembly's "trial" of its five Socialist members opened here today with the outcome considered in but little doubt. Around the capitol it is considered certain that the Socialists, or four of the five at least, will lose their seats.

The action of the assembly last night, on the McLaughlin resolution, which would have excluded from the evidence the Socialists speeches and votes in the house, clearly indicated with what vigor the assembly as a whole is supporting Speaker Sweet in his ouster proceedings.

Eight Democrats and one Republican voted for the McLaughlin resolution as against 91 votes against it. The one Republican to bolt the majority was Sol Ullman, of New York. Of the judiciary committee, which is trying the case, only one member, William S. Evans, of the Bronx, voted for it.

The state was expected to close its case today and leave the rest of the week free for the Socialists' defense. That defense will consist chiefly, according to the present plans, of putting each of the five accused men on the stand to submit to examination by the state's counsel.

At the opening of the hearing today opposing counsel engaged in a lengthy argument over the admission as evidence a memorandum by Secretary of State Lansing to Senator Henry Cabot Lodge bearing on soviet Russia. It finally was admitted over the Socialists' protest.

John B. Stanchfield, for the state, introduced also as evidence pledge cards of the Anti-Enlistment League, bearing the signatures of August Claessens and Louis Waldman, two of the Socialists under investigation. These cards pledged the signers not to enlist in the armies of any country and not to give encouragement or approval to any one enlisting.

The deposition of Joseph E. Harris, a Milwaukee newspaperman, also was introduced in evidence. Harris deposed that he covered the national Socialist convention in Chicago in September, 1919, and that he there heard Waldman, who was a delegate, say:

"If I knew we could sway the boys when they get guns in their hands against the capitalists, I would vote for universal military training.

WILSON RELENTS ON ARTICLE X

White House Announces He Will Accept Compromise—Believes Settlement Will be Reached With Mild Reservations in Senate.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Feb. 10.—President Wilson is willing to accept a compromise on Article X of the league of nations covenant. This was stated at the White House today.

Furthermore the president is hopeful that the Democrats and the "mild reservationists" may reach a compromise on all reservations and it was learned that the president would favor such action, based on the Hitchcock reservations.

President Wilson's letter to Senator Hitchcock, which was read at the Democratic caucus last Saturday, has been misinterpreted, it was stated at the White House.

The president intended to inform Senator Hitchcock that he was agreeable "to the substance" of the Hitchcock reservation to Article X and was also in support of the reservations put forth by Senator Hitchcock in the bi-partisan conference.

The president believes firmly that a satisfactory compromise will be reached between the Democrats and the "mild reservationists" when the treaty reaches the floor again, it was learned.

DELAY IN TREATY CONSIDERATION

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Feb. 10.—Senate leaders agreed today to postpone further action on the treaty by the senate until Monday.

Illness of a number of senators, several of whom are suffering from "bad colds" symptomatic of the "flu," caused the leaders to decide it would be inadvisable to take the treaty up again in the senate until a full attendance was assured.

The senate foreign relations committee met on schedule today and voted unanimously to report the treaty back to the senate with the Lodge reservations, as it was instructed to do by an overwhelming majority of the senate which recommitted the treaty to the committee yesterday to rid it of cloture.

URGE MEMORIAL TREES ARBOR DAY

State Federation of Women's Clubs have been called on by the American Forestry Association of Washington to make Arbor Day, May seven, in New York state a record breaker. The planting of Memorial Trees is particularly urged by Charles Lathrop Pack, president of the American Forestry Association, who writes to Mrs. George D. Hewitt, the president of Carthage, N. Y., who is presiding at the meeting of the Board of Directors of the Federation in session at the Hotel Astor.

"With the coming of Arbor Day" says the letter from Mr Pack to Mrs Hewitt, "there is a fine opportunity for Memorial Tree planting and for the planting of "Roads of Remembrance." In many places through New York state this work has been taken up and much will be done this year for Memorial Tree planting is not a thing of one year but of every year, All these trees are being registered on the association's honor roll. The General Federation of Women's Clubs, it seems to me, is especially fitted to help in this work and we would indeed be glad to have your Board of Directors adopt a resolution to the end that tree planting programs be organized We will send our free tree planting instruction and tree day program to any one who asks for it."

Mr. Pack, who is at the Manhattan Hotel for a meeting of the Board of Directors of the American Forestry Association, points to the work of the women's clubs in other states. In Pennsylvania the Women's clubs of York are planting 25 miles of the Lincoln Highway with memorial trees In Indiana, the Lincoln Highway is being thus marked At Middletown, Ohio, Mrs Charles R Hook is directing similar planting on the Dixie Highway out of that city At Tampa, Fla., the Rotary Club has voted $7,000, for planting memorial trees along the West Coast Road.

Where Vicks Began

The Drug Store in which O. Henry Spent His Boyhood

This is the drug store in Greensboro, N. C., purchased by Mr. Lunsford Richardson in 1888 from Dr. Porter. Dr. Porter was the uncle of "Will" Porter, who, under the nom-de-plume of O. Henry, became America's greatest short story writer. O. Henry practically grew up in this store and learned here the profession of pharmacy.

It was during his years behind the prescription counter of this drug store that Mr. Richardson worked out the formula for Vicks.

Druggists have stock today but a shortage may come at any time. Last winter druggists in many sections were out of Vicks for months

How the Use of this External Treatment for Cold Troubles Has Grown

MORE than a score of years ago, Lunsford Richardson, a druggist in a little North Carolina town, was trying to find a new way to treat spasmodic croup and colds. He had been trying to find it for years—he needed such a treatment in his own home—he knew that epicac and internal medicines disturbed the delicate digestions of children—that the only way to get medication directly to the air passages and lungs was in vapor form. So he was searching for an effective vapor treatment which would be economical, convenient, and which could be used without the necessity of closing up the sick room and thus excluding the fresh air, so important in the treatment of colds.

At last, this druggist found a process by which he could combine in salve form the standard, time-tested remedies—Camphor, Menthol, Eucalyptus, Thymol and Turpentine—with other volatile oils so that when this salve was spread over the throat and chest the ingredients would be vaporized by the body heat. These vapors, inhaled with each breath all night long, carried the medication directly to the parts affected and at the same time the salve was absorbed thru and stimulated the skin, aiding the vapors inhaled to relieve the congestion. This product was named Vick's VapoRub.

Now over 17 Million Jars are used yearly

Vicks was found to be good for a great many troubles besides spasmodic croup, and as time went on, its sale increased county by county and state by state, until now over 17 million jars are used each year—almost one jar for every family in the United States. And this in spite of the fact that Vicks is still a new form of treatment to many people in the North and far West.

The best testimony to the value of Vicks is the increasing number of families who, each year, are converted to the use of this real "Little Bodyguard in the Home."

Here is the record of the number of jars used annually for the last few years:

1910	347,748 Jars
1911	523,152 Jars
1912	1,027,068 Jars
1913	1,257,590 Jars
1914	1,462,330 Jars
1915	2,418,213 Jars
1916	4,302,764 Jars
1917	6,759,511 Jars
1918	17,377,408 Jars

Directions for the Use of Vicks

VICK'S VapoRub comes in salve form. When applied to the body its action is two-fold.

1st—INTERNAL. The heat of the body releases the ingredients in the form of vapors These vapors are inhaled with each breath, carrying the medication through the air passages to the lungs

2nd—EXTERNAL. In addition, Vicks is absorbed thru and stimulates the skin, attracting the blood to the surface and aiding the vapors inhaled to relieve the congestion

For Deep Chest Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Coughs, Hoarseness

For severe cases, hot, wet towels should be applied over the throat and chest to open the pores of the skin Then Vicks should be rubbed well in, spread on thickly and covered with two thicknesses of hot, flannel cloths. The clothing should be left loose around the neck and the bed clothes arranged in the form of a funnel, so that the vapors arising may be freely inhaled.

For Head Colds, Asthma, Catarrh, Hay Fever, Whooping Cough

For these troubles, Vicks can be used as for chest colds or can be melted in a spoon and the vapors inhaled, or a little applied up the nostrils and snuffed back into the air passages.

For Spasmodic Croup and Children's Colds

Vicks is particularly recommended for children's colds, since it is externally applied and can, therefore, be used often and freely with perfect safety. For spasmodic croup, rub Vicks over the throat and chest until the difficult breathing is relieved; then spread on thickly and cover with a hot flannel cloth. An application at bedtime usually prevents a night attack of croup

For Use as a Liniment, Poultice or Plaster

On account of its penetrative and rubefacient effect on the skin, Vicks has been found excellent for many minor ailments, such as Bites, Boils, Burns, Bruises, Cuts, Frost bite, Itchings, Muscular Soreness, Poison oak, Sunburn, Headache.

Vicks Is Not Meant to Replace the Physician

At the first symptoms of a serious illness, such as pneumonia, a physician should always be called. Many other troubles, such as chronic catarrh or continued headache, call for the diagnosis of a good doctor. Vicks is simply an emergency remedy, which can be kept in the home ready for instant use and which can be used freely, with perfect safety, on the youngest member of the family ed City is Still Digging Out From Under Last Thursday's Blizzard—Householders Should Clear Off Sidewalks.

NOTHER SNOW STORM IS HERE

Another snow storm broke over Kingston during Monday night and this morning over an inch of snow had fallen, and at the time this was written the snow storm was still in progress. The street department is still busy digging out from under the blizzard of last Thursday, opening the main arteries of travel in the city. Most of the rigs and men are at work on Broadway, but it will be several days before conditions are normal even if the city is not visited by another heavy snow fall.

Householders should co-operate with the city in keeping the sidewalks clear of snow. The police force has been kept busy notifying property owners to clear off the walks. In clearing walks care should also be taken to clear away the snow from the fire hydrants so that in case of fire the fire department would not have to lose valuable time in shoveling away the snow.

DeValera at Anthony's Grave.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New Bedford, Mass., Feb. 10.—Eamon de Valera stood today with bared head in rural cemetery and placed a wreath on the grave of Captain George S. Anthony, captain of the whaler Catalpa, which rescued John Boyle O'Reilly and other political prisoners from exile in Australia.

Later he visited the widow of Captain Anthony.

SHRINERS WILL RETAIN "REP"

In Annual At Armory Next Monday Evening.—A Good Time Whether You Dance or Not—Newburghers Coming.

The Kingston Shriners are making every effort to make their annual ball on Monday evening, February 16, the best ever. Nothing is being spared to help make this annual affair one of the greatest which has ever been held in the city. The committee on arrangements have been more than fortunate in securing the famous Yerkes marimba band which, in connection with Curt Shurter's orchestra, will furnish the music for dancing. Then too there will be Miss Riccobono in two solo dances, one of the features of the evening. Besides this there will be other specialties which will be announced as soon as the final arrangements have been made. For a good time, either for those who dance or for those who enjoy good music and enjoy watching good dancing, go to the Shriner's ball at the armory on the evening of February 16 and besides enjoying a good time you will help swell the proceeds for the benefit of the Industrial Home.

Tickets are selling fast and there will without a doubt be a large crowd. Many out of town people have signified their intention to attend. Dr. Hill has just received a communication from Frederick W. Wilson, editor and manager of the Newburgh News, stating that he as well as a large delegation from the Hilly City will be on hand. The letter follows:

Newburgh, February 6, 1920.
Dr. A. L. Hill, Kingston; N. Y.

Dear Noble: It may interest you to know that the fame of the big ball to be given by the Shriners of Kingston on the 16th inst. has spread to Newburgh and that several of our local Shriners, including myself, are planning to participate in the pleasures you are preparing for the evening. W all know that the Kingston "bunch" never does anything half way and that you can and will put this event for the benefit of such a deserving cause, across big.

With best wishes

LECTURE MONEY GOES TO HOME

The Federation of Women's Clubs which is bringing Senator Lusk, a man large in the minds and thoughts of the American people today, to Kingston, has pledged itself to raise $300 in payment for the furnishing and equipment of the sun parlor, one of the cheeriest spots in the entire Home for the Aged. This is the way they are planning to raise that amount, by bringing to their city a man whom every American who can should hear today, talk on "Americanism Against Radicalism," or "The Red Movement," and at the same time asking the people of the community to pay fifty cents a ticket for the privilege of hearing him and helping the Home. The lecture will be at the armory Friday evening.

GARNET AND GREY PLAYS KINGSTON

The Albany High School basketball team will play Kingston High School here Wednesday evening in a return game. WILSON TO PASS ON R. R. WAGES

Whole Matter to Come Before President Following Hines's Failure to Concede Men Big Increase—Labor Leaders Have Ultimatum.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Feb. 10.—President Wilson will take up the matter of increased wage demands for railroad workers today.

Secretary Tumulty has held a long conference with Director General Hines and will lay the entire matter before the president today.

The threatened strike of the maintenance of way employes is regarded as a serious situation at the White House because it may open the way for other strikes.

The White House takes the attitude that this strike is illegal because a thirty day notice has not been given and it was intimated that the president may take legal steps to prevent the strike.

The labor leaders today drafted an ultimatum which they were to present to Director General Hines. It was expected that the director general would take the ultimatum to the White House and confer later in the day with the labor leaders again.

The railroad administration today arranged to hold a conference with a committee of the maintenance of way employes, in an attempt to reach some agreement which would prevent the threatened strike.

House Adopts Oil Land Report.

Fine Metals Make a Fine Car

As a car is 98% metal you can readily imagine how great a part metals play in its quality. A Maxwell is made of fine metals—extra fine metals; otherwise it never could have survived those 1,500,000,000 miles that owners are estimated to have driven it.

These metals had to be of the finer grades in a Maxwell. For a Maxwell is light—2130 pounds. Lighter metals had to be used but lighter in weight only—not in strength.

Such metals are the extra fine metals that the great science of metallurgy has produced. They are high priced. But they have won countless friendships for Maxwell, developed a great family of owners approaching 400,000 in number.

This vast number is growing daily at the rate of 100,000 per year.

Ex-Ambassador Gerard told an audience of women the other day that "a woman's fear of a mouse is a very sensible thing." It is needless to add that Mr. Gerard is one of the many candidates.

The French Academy of Science has offered a hundred thousand francs to the man who can communicate with Mars. Those francs are as safe as the $5,000 offered Sir Oliver Lodge if he will "produce a ghost."

For stealing four chickens two boys in Florida have been sent to prison six and eight years respectively. Why didn't the judge hang them while he was about it? Europe's dark ages furnish plenty of precedents.

The pound sterling, normally worth $4.86, now brings only $3.19. As for the German mark, its fall in value is vividly revealed in the announcement that an American dollar will buy 833 glasses of the best beer in Berlin.

We read of a college professor who cannot afford to go to a barber shop and at the same time of a bootblack who easily clears $225 a week. It begins to look as if the manual employments are bound to be recruited at the expense of the professions.

The Rev. Dr. Henry Davies, rector of Christ Episcopal Church, Easton, Md., resents Internal Revenue Commissioner Roper's request that the churches actively come to his aid, declaring that the people of the church named "would not sink so low as to become informers." Dr. Davies' view of the matter well becomes him, but in justice to Mr. Roper it should be remembered that he probably regards himself as up against a hopeless problem unless he can induce half the people to spy upon the other half.

REDUCED TAXES ONE-THIRD.

A candidate who has shown ability as well as desire to reduce taxation has an extra good claim upon the attention of the American public in these days. It seem that reforms brought about in Illinois through the efforts of Governor Lowden have greatly reduced taxation in that State without impairing the efficiency of the public machinery. In the last three years, according to the chairman of the Lowden campaign committee, Governor Lowden "has reduced the taxes of Illinois $7,000,000, or one-third." Therefore he "today stands forth as the only man in the United States who has demonstrated the ability to reduce taxes in war times, and, at the same time, make every necessary expenditure to help win the greatest war in history."

This is a very great achievement—granting that there is no mistake about it and no exaggeration in the telling. If Governor Lowden has done this, no wonder the Republicans of Illinois want to see him made President, believing that he "can materially reduce the taxes of the Federal government, and bring about a reorganization of the Federal government machine, antiquated as it is, which will make an enormous permanent saving to the taxpayers of the United States." Admittedly the job of bringing expenditures back to the normal peace basis is a big one, but it was and it is not impossible of achievement. If this story of what Governor Lowden has done in Illinois can be spread abroad with convincing evidence of its truth, he seems likely to acquire a much stronger pull with the public than any other candidate in the field.

A NEW "VEHICLE."

Are all the Federal prohibition agents really acquainted with the law they are expected to enforce? This question is suggested by the story from Chicago of Charles N. Thomas, the bank president who produced a flask of whisky from his trousers pocket in a restaurant and was arrested on the ground that the law prohibits the transportation of intoxicants in any "vehicle, team or motor, saddle, air or water craft." It was held that Mr. Thomas' trousers had served as a "vehicle" for the transportation of liquor in the meaning of the law and the garment was therefore subject to confiscation. At the hearing next day Mr. Thomas said he was quite willing to have his trousers confiscated as a "vehicle," inasmuch as he could afford to buy "a new pair of pants."

This, however, did not settle the matter, the head of the Enforcement Bureau ordering the offending bank president held on a charge of violating still another section of the law which, as the dispatch reads, prohibits "the manufacture, sale, bartering, transporting, importing, exporting, furnishing or possessing" liquor. Yet the law is supposed to permit the possession of intoxicants—for home use. The Chicago bank president may have offended against the spirit of the law by drinking an intoxicant in a public place and "treating" two friends there (obviously it was this that really caused his arrest), but it can hardly be established in a court of law that a pair of pantaloons is a vehicle for transportation in any sense, let alone in the commercial sense implied in the wording of the law.

According to the showing of the Department of Agriculture, the crops, animals and animal products raised and prepared for market by American farmers in 1919 are priced at $24,982,000,000, or about $4,000 for each of the six million farmers. The farmers ought not to grumble, whatever complaints the rest of us may think we have a right to make.

A survey of one New York state community showed there were only five pure-bred bulls to every six scrubs. This average it is thought will probably hold throughout the state. That's the reason for the "Boost Better Bulls" campaign.

WEEK OF SONG

Proclaimed By Music Supervisors For Feb. 22 to 28.

The following proclamation has been issued in regard to the National Week of Song, which will be observed in the schools of Kingston, the churches and homes from Feb. 22nd to 28th, inclusive:

"Because God, in the victory for righteousness, and for the peace He has given us, has given us occasion for great joy, and because joy is an emotion that can be best expressed in song, and because singing is one of the greatest unifying and nationalizing influences, and because the week of Washington's Birthday has been designated as The National Week of Song, a week when the whole nation will unite as a mighty chorus to sing the songs we love, it is deemed especially appropriate at this time to suggest that the week of February 22nd to 28th, inclusive, be set aside for the singing of such songs as will express our joy, awaken a love for God and country, timulate a true spirit of devotion and loyalty, unite us in our civic interests and develop that spirit of brotherhood which will make us a better people and a greater nation.

"Because of the far reaching influence for good and the great joy to be derived from the observance of The National Week of Song, also because great praise, such as can best be given in song, is due Him from whom all blessings flow, this proclamation calls upon all who believe in America and American ideals to join earnestly in the observance of this significant event. That this is done in schools and churches, by choral societies, welfare clubs, woman's clubs, men's clubs and all kindred organizations."

The proclamation is signed by H. O. Ferguson, Clara Sanford, A. J. Gantvoort and Norman H. Hall, National Week of Song Committee of the Music Supervisors National Conference.

Run by Electricity Said to be Commercially Practicable.

Dr. Charles P. Steinmetz, for many years consulting engineer for the General Electric Company, announces the commercial perfection of an electric delivery vehicle on which he has been at work for the past fifteen years. The new car is remarkable for its light weight and simplicity of design. It requires 30 per cent less storage battery than other cars of the same load-carrying capacity. Dr. Steinmetz has also developed a regenerative system under which his car generates electric current on down grades and recharges the storage batteries, thus materially adding to the mileage of the car.

Chemist Begy Says

When aches and pains distress you and keep you uneasy and unfit just rub on a little Begy's Mustarine. It cannot blister even though you'll find it many times stronger than anything else you can buy.

There's lots of thing that will give temporary relief for

Bronchitis
Sore Throat

but I want you to remember, if you want lasting relief, that heat is absolutely necessary to reduce the inflammation and scatter congestion.

Heat comes into and heat is just what you get when you use Begy's Mustarine for lumbago, neuralgia, sciatica and rheumatic pains and swellings. 30 cents.

EVANGELISTS OPEN AT NEW PALTZ

New Paltz, Feb. 10.—The community evangelistic campaign opened at the Methodist Church on Sunday night, under the leadership of Evangelist T. LeRoy Muir, of Andes, N. Y., and his corps of helpers. Promptly at 7:30 o'clock, Dr. Ernest Clapp of the Dutch Reformed Church mounted the rostrum and introduced Mr. Muir as the leader of the movement. The evangelist responded in a few well chosen words, thanking the executive committee for the invitation and urging a continuance of co-operation. He then introduced his helpers, Miss Esther Riegel of Salona, Pa., who assists at the piano and directs the young women's work, and Prof. R. E. Kauffman of Dayton, Ohio, who is the popular baritone soloist of the party. Mr. Kaufman also is an expert in boys' and girls' work.

The evangelist preached a stirring sermon on "The Need of a Revival" to a large and enthusiastic audience. The choir of fifty voices rendered an excellent musical program at the start of the service.

Prayer meetings will be held on Wednesday and Friday mornings in the various districts and on Thursday morning a union prayer meeting will be held in the M. E Church. Afternoon meetings are held on Wednesday and Friday at 2:30. The next regular preaching service will be this evening at 7:30 and the subject will be "Mobilization" All people are invited to these services The movement is one for a better New Paltz.

CONFERENCE ON PORT TREATY

The Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York has asked the Kingston Chamber of Commerce to send representatives to a meeting to be held on Tuesday, February 10, at the Chamber of Commerce building in New York city, to discuss the proposed port treaty with the state of New Jersey. The New York chamber has asked commercial organizations throughout the state to send representatives to this conference in order that full expression of the attitude towards the port treaty by upstate interests may be made. As the port of New York is the ocean gateway for upstate business, the entire state is concerned with its development and improvement as proposed through the establishment of a central port authority.

It is expected that a bill will come before the state legislature soon to provide for an amendment to the existing treaty with New Jersey, whereby a central port authority will be established at the port of New York.

Commercial bodies adjacent to the port of New York have almost unanimously acted in favor of the proposed treaty amendment. The New York chamber has recently published the opinions of the various commercial and civic organizations, the press and public men upon this treaty in pamphlet form, which will be sent without charge to those who will address the Chamber at 65 Liberty street, New York city, requesting it.

Crosby Music Pleased.

One of the largest crowds of the season attended the dance at Pythian Hall Saturday evening when Tom Crosby's jazz septet supplied the music for dancing. Crosby with the six other members of the orchestra, made a decided hit with the people who frequent these popular dances each Saturday evening. Both concert and jazz music was supplied Saturday night and the music was well liked by all who attended. Another popular dance will be held Saturday night, with the same music as last week.

Dance at Mannerchor Hall.

Tom Crosby's trio, with Reggie Palen handling the drums, will furnish the music for a dance at Mannerchor Hall Wednesday evening.

DIGGING UP SOLDIER DEAD

Maligned "Dog Tag" Proves of Great Value in Identification—System of Checking is Most Careful in Removing Our Dead from France.

It is a long, long, trail awinding, according to J. W. Rixey Smith, in The Home Sector, the ex-soldiers' magazine conducted by the former editorial council of The Stars and Stripes, for those of our soldier dead who will shortly be sent to this country from cemeteries in Europe, where their bodies rest at present. He says: "In the meantime, in those cemeteries where the graves registration service is now working on the removal project, the journey home for the A. E. F. dead proceeds step by step about after this fashion. Disinterments begin in a certain selected cemetery, and no two cemeteries in the same section are disturbed at the same time. A group, including an expert embalmer, two technical assistants and four laborers, and called a 'gang,' proceeds to dig up a grave. No two graves are opened in the same plot at the same time. There may be anywhere from two to six of these gangs at work under one inspector, who is officially responsible for the final inspection of each coffin before it is turned over to the convoyer.

"The weathered cross is carefully examined, first of all, for the dog tag supposed to be securely fastened on it. This, if found, is checked against the gave record of the G. R. S., which is of course at hand. If the tag has been removed, as is often the case, disinterment proceeds and the very first effort made is to find the tag, officially spoken of as the 'identification disc,' supposed to be about the neck of the dead soldier.

"If this by any chance is lost, an effort is made to identify the body beyond the shadow of a doubt by physical characteristics noted under 'remarks' on the grave record. Identification is above all else the important thing, and once this is established, the preparation of the body for its return home may go on.

"If originally buried in a casket or box, and practically all of those not in the battle areas were so buried, the body is turned over to the embalmer and his assistants, who treat it with chemicals that simply arrest decay.

"If buried in sack cloth, as will be found to be the case in thousands of instances of battle-area burials, the body and some of the ground around it will be laid on a rubber sheet and sprayed with a chemical solution until all the dirt and extraneous matter is washed away. In any event, any detail that is at all likely to be of interest will be noted on the bill of shipment which in three ways follows that body until it is delivered into the custody of its nearest kin, one copy going with the convoyer, one to Washington and the other being retained as a part of the record of the G. R. S. in European headquarters."

A. L. A. SEEKING BOOKS FOR ALL

Books for everybody!

A better citizenship in the United States!

These are the aims of the American Library Association which has inaugurated a "Books for Everybody" program and in so doing has enlisted the solid support of its four thousand members. The movement is the most important in the forty years of the A. L. A.'s useful existence. The association will require two million dollars to carry on the work of the enlarged program. The money will not be sought through the medium of a drive or an intensive campaign but through the individual efforts of the librarians themselves.

The needs of the blind are great and the provision to serve them woefully inadequate. The A. L. A. will remedy this. In this one instance alone the treasure trove of good literature will be opened to 75,000 blind in the United States. The association will advocate and assist with its counsel and influence the extension of the county library system which will bring about the circulation of books to every crossroad, hamlet, ranch and logging camp in the country.

Books, now being furnished by the American Library Association, are circulating to the most distant ports in the world on board the ships of the United States Merchant Marine.

In carrying out its enlarged program the association will advocate the extension of the industrial plant library idea, which it is believed in many quarters, will go a long way toward solving the industrial unrest through the application of the "books as tools" idea. It is now meeting the books needs of the coast guard and light house service and hospitals of the U. S. Public Health Service as well as continuing service to former soldiers and sailors who have learned to appreciate the value of books through the A. L. A. efforts in the training camps and overseas.

ALSO DIFFERS WITH DR. CHASE

Editor Freeman

Dear Sir —May I have just a little space in your paper for a short article

In your issue of February 7 I read an article written by Dr P N Chase and he said ordinarily no attention should be paid to a communication to which the writer is unwilling to sign his name I do not agree with the doctor If anything is good it is good even if we do not know where it originates.

The doctor says it is not fair for the trolley company to lose $1,000 in a year in giving of what we call good service I think he is right about that I don't think anyone should lose money trying to accommodate some one else But how are we to know that the trolley company lost $1,000? Shall we just simply take their word for it? But that is not the question The trolley company did not ask for an increased fare, but simply said the directors had voted to take up the tracks on Washington avenue And so far as comparing the service with that of San Francisco, Boston, St Louis Portland, Seattle or any of the big cities, there is no comparison but when you say it is better than Poughkeepsie or Newburgh it is more to the point as the service in those towns are about the same as ours May I ask the doctor whose fault it was if not the trolley company's, that there was not cars to carry the people from the entertainments? The doctor wants to know if anyone has considered what would be the result if we should drive the trolley out of business I for one have. One result would be that our property would depreciate in value throughout the whole city, and if we allow the company to take up the tracks on Washington avenue the result would be the same to the property owners in this section of the city. I for one don't think the trolley company is thinking seriously of taking up its tracks on Washington avenue. I think that is a corporation bluff. I think they did that just simply as a means of finding out the sentiment of the residents along the line and if the majority favor a 7-cent fare then I think they would feel safe in asking for such, but I am not in favor of any such move. Let us first see if they can take up the track and after that is settled then take up higher fares and settle that.

WM. S. JACKSON.
41 Washington avenue.

ESOPUS.

Esopus, Feb 9.—The storm of Thursday played havoc here, as elsewhere, and travel of both pedestrians and vehicles was almost at a standstill. Fears of a blizzard equal to that of March, 1888, were entertained by some of the older inhabitants who passed through that trying ordeal. All were grateful when the storm ceased and the task of shoveling began.

Influenza still holds sway here and in addition to the thirty or more cases reported, there still are others. Percy Mott and little son, Leonard, Mrs. Hasbrouck Freer and two children, Hasbrouck, Jr., and Eleanor, the family of George Hommel, also Miss Grace Freer. However we are glad to state that all are recovering. Leslie E. Mott and family are all ill in Newburgh at the home of Mr Mott's uncle, James Mott They too are improving.

The funeral (which was private) of the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Lund, was held at the home on Tuesday of this week. The body was taken to Kingston and placed in a vault at Wiltwyck cemetery.

The services at the Methodist Church were omitted again on Sunday on account of the illness of so many and the bad travelling on the state road.

Miss Helen Cole of Poughkeepsie came to Esopus on Tuesday last to attend the funeral service of her cousin Rudolph Herbert Lund. Also Rudolph Lund of Larchmont, N Y., an uncle, was present.

Mr and Mrs John P Garoung and daughter, Elsie, under the care of Dr Amy M Budd, have recovered from the flu Mrs Ann Shoemaker also resident of Dr Budd is able to be about once more

A secret emulsion, invented by a Russian professor, which, it is asserted, will make color photography possible for everybody, is about to be introduced into this country, says the London Times. The problem of making the process capable of snapshot as well as time work is claimed to have been overcome, and the exposure can be as rapid as with the ordinary emulsion, thus fitting the invention for moving picture work also

Special cameras and plates will be on the market shortly, and the cost of a colored film is expected to be only 15 to 20 per cent higher than the ordinary black and white type.

STATE INCOME TAX INFORMATION

Returns under the state income tax law are now due. March 15th is the last filing date. Taxpayers in the county of Ulster should file their returns at the Kingston district office at 518 Broadway.

Questions relating to the law have been answer by Comptroller Travis as follows:

252. Invalid—I am a resident with a canning factory in New York and a plantation in Florida. I make business trips south every winter. (a) May I deduct expenses on such? (b) May I charge off as an expense the amount paid to an attendant who has to be with me because of my physical condition?

A.—(a) If such trips are purely business trips the expenses which you incur on them are deductible. (b) No, such payments are personal expenses.

252. Mrs. H.—On March 1st, 1919, I received $750, semi-annual interest on a mortgage. Is this income?

A.—No, if you are a resident only that amount of interest which accrued since January 1, 1919, or $250 in this case, is to be included in your gross income. If you are a non-resident, you would not be taxed upon this kind of income.

253.—In the case of a physician, employed at a state institution on an annual salary, should he use form 200 or form 201?

A.—Form 200. Although he is a professional man, if this entire income is derived from salary it may be properly reported on this form.

254. Receiver—In administering the affairs of a bankrupt corporation I made several payments of $1,000 for salaries, etc. What are my duties in regard to reporting these payments?

A.—You should make an information return (form 105) to the state income tax bureau at Albany, where such payments of $1,000 or more during 1919 were taxable income to the recipient.

255. Trustee—The distributive share of taxable income to beneficiaries from a trust which I control did not equal $1,000 in the case of any one person during 1919. Neither did the earnings of the trust during 1919 equal that amount. Have I any duties?

A.—No, under the facts stated you would not be required to make any report of return to the state income tax bureau.

256. Widower—I am keeping house with my daughter sixteen years of age, who is attending school. My wife died seven years ago (a) Am I the head of a family? (b) What exemption do I receive?

A.—(a) Yes. (b) $2,000, head of a family, and $200 for dependent.

257. Albanian—In question 10 on form 200 you ask in connection with the filing of a return with the federal government, for the amount of a total net income reported. On federal form 1040-A there are two items of total net income report, viz: (J) that on which the normal tax is to be calculated; (L) total net income, which is item J plus item K. Which of these shall I report in answer to question 10?

A.—You should report the amount shown under item L in the federal return, because the items reported under item K of that return do not reply to the state return.

258. Beneficiary—My father died and I received $2,000 on his life insurance policy. During the past two years I paid the premium amounting to $80. Is this $1,200 income?

A.—The premiums paid by the beneficiary are not deductible and the amount received on the death of the insured is not to be included in gross income. If, however, the amount so received is invested, the income from the principal should be included in gross income.

259. Attorney—Can I deduct cost of books to keep up a law library from the gross income of the law business?

A.—No, such expenditures are capital investments. You may, however, deduct a reasonable amount for the depreciation of your books in the library.

260. G. H. B.—If a man's place is mortgaged does he have to pay a tax? My mortgage is $4,000. My income is $2,500. I paid $1,000 on account of mortgage principal in the year 1919. As a married man left with $1,500 income do I have to pay any tax?

A.—The $1,000 which you paid to reduce your mortgage is an investment of capital and not a deductible expense. Therefore, as a married man with an income of $2,000, you would be required to file a return.

261. Candidate—I have just taken office as surrogate. I made certain campaign contributions and with other expenditures in the primaries and election, paid out $200. May I deduct these amounts?

A.—No, these are personal expenses.

262. M. C.—Are amounts paid as premiums on employer's liability and workmen's compensation insurance deductible as business expenses? (b) Do they constitute additional income to the employes covered by the policies?

A—(a) Yes. (b) No.

263. Banker—Do I understand that I may deduct the $2.78 paid by X bank to the state on shares of this bank's stock?

A.—Only if you also return it as income additional to the actual amount received from the bank.

264. R. M. L.—I am separated from my wife. I pay her $100 a month under a separation agreement. She has our two children, 4 and 8 years of age. As a resident (1) may I deduct the $1,200 annual payments? (2), what is my exemption?

A.—(1), No amounts, paid under a separation agreement are personal expenses. (2) As a married man living apart from wife you receive personal exemption of $1,000. You are not allowed any exemption for the children because the payments are made direct to your wife who is supporting them.

265. W. J. M.—My business property abuts on a street on which the grade was changed. The city awarded me certain damages, and I want to know if I have to report this sum as income?

A.—No. Such award compensates the loss which you otherwise would be allowed to deduct, if sustained in connection with your business property.

266. Attorney—At various times during 1919 I received payments from a railroad company under federal control, for searching titles and other legal work. Are these amounts to be included in my income?

A.—Yes. You are not considered an official or employe of the railroad.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Neat Dress for Mother's Girl.

2744—This model is economical of material and labor. It is easy to develop and suitable for wash fabrics as well as silk and cloth. It is cut to slip over the head. The sleeve may be cut off and finished at elbow length, or made in waist length. Either style has a smart cuff.

The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 2, 4, 6 and 8 years. Size 4 will require 2½ yards of 40 inch material.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or one cent or, two cent stamps by The Pattern Department, The Freeman, Rondout, N. Y. Be sure to state size wanted.

WEST SAUGERTIES.

West Saugerties, Feb. 9.—On Wednesday evening, January 28, Orville Carn celebrated his fifty-sixth birthday with a card party.

Emily S. Cole received by mail a box of heliotrope, orange blossoms, violets and other flowers from Pomona, Cal., and in the face of the cold weather they were not frozen.

Mrs. Byron Davis and Julia Garrison called on Julia's mother on Wednesday.

On Thursday evening a load of people went to Saugerties to the movies.

Mr. Neplvoda and wife, who have been in Jersey for a few months, are home again.

February 1, the Rev. Mr. Ammerman of Cobleskill preached in Blue Mountain and here as a candidate.

Mrs. Renner is home again, after spending the last few months in New York city.

Thomas Johnson, of Albany, an experienced band saw man, has been spending the week at Schoentag's saw mill, helping to put up a band saw.

The clam chowder supper and social held in the West Saugerties Hall on Tuesday evening, February 3, was a great success. It was largely helped by the two sleigh loads that came from Saugerties, in which were about forty people. The door prize, which was a stuffed monkey made by Mrs. David Myer, was won by Frank Hommel. The proceeds amounted to $51, which goes to the Blue Mountain Church.

The terrible storm of Thursday prevented our mail man from putting in an appearance. This is the first time this winter that Mr. Simmons failed to get here and we have had some pretty bad weather and roads, but it takes a good deal to down him.

Owing to sickness, our school teacher, Miss Dick, was not able to have school last week.

On Thursday afternoon people were startled by seeing a riderless horse tearing up through the place toward the mountain. In a little while he went back looking as if he was thoroughly enjoying his freedom. It belonged to Mr. Butler and supposedly broke out of his stable.

MURRAY TELLS OF NEWBERRY COIN

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Grand Rapids, Mich. Feb. 10 — The tale of a $700 investment to capture the Michigan railroad men's vote in the 1918 senatorial campaign for Senator Truman H. Newberry was told on the witness stand today by George R. Murray, president of the railwaymen's association and editor of its official organ.

"Murray, a gaunt old giant who hobbled to the witness stand, aided by a cane, told the jury that Paul H. King manager of the Newberry campaign and Charles A. Floyd, assistant manager, came to him in the spring of 1918 and solicited his aid. He received a check for $700 he said with which he paid his way about the state visiting railroad men in behalf of Newberry. He also told receiving $100 for "advertising" in his paper.

"I don't know whether you would call them advertisements or not," he said "they were [illegible] reading matter."

Herbert J. [illegible] Escanaba attorney, testified that at the meeting of one of the Newberry workers he came out for the [illegible] in the thirteenth senatorial district.

"I was then told I must support Newberry. I told them nothing doing because I was supporting Osborn."

SIMS WOULDN'T REWARD LOSERS

Before Senate Committee He Scores Policy Which Gave Bagley Medal—Denies He Said Army Had Fallen Down—Society Women Cheer Him.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Feb 10.—Injection of a "defeatist germ" into the navy by Secretary of the Navy Daniels was charged today by Admiral Sims before the senate sub-committee investigating medal awards.

"What is the use of spending millions for battleships if you are going to offer special awards for the officers who sink them?" Sims asked.

Sims was speaking of the award of a distinguished service cross by Daniels to Commander Bagley, who lost his ship. Bagley is a brother-in-law of Daniels.

When Sims entered the room, 200 society women of Washington stood and cheered.

Sims denied statements attributed by Daniels to Representative Byrnes of South Carolina, that he (Sims) declared the army had fallen down.

"I told Byrnes that story and that he would hear it often, but not to believe it," said Sims.

Rear Admiral Sims was to be faced by Representative Byrnes, Democrat, of South Carolina, when the senate sub-committee investigating medals awards resumes its hearings late this afternoon.

Byrne will be asked by the committee to recite a conversation he and Senator Carter H. Glass, of Virginia, and Representative Whaley, of South Carolina, had with Sims in Paris, October 1918. This conversation which Sims does "not remember clearly", but denies as to facts, was recited by Byrnes on the floor of the house several days ago.

Senator Hale, Republican, of Maine, issued a call at noon for the appearance of Byrnes, Glass and Whaley at the suggestion of Senator Pittman, Democratic, of Nevada, also a member of the sub-committee.

"The charges that pro-British statements or anti-American statements were made by Admiral Sims are grave and should be gone into thoroughly," Senator Pittman said.

"I have read the testimony of the secretary of the navy before the committee on February 3rd," Sims continued. "This testimony is very surprising in that, in a number of important intances, it accords in stating my views as to awards, in some of these instances I even find myself in entire accord with Mr Daniels.

"Mr. Daniels stated he would never approve disparity between awards given men who served on shore as compared with the men who went to sea. In this I agree with him most cordially. The committee will doubtlessly remember that in giving my testimony on this very point, I sought to emphasize it by requesting that it be printed in italicized capitals in red ink. Doubtless that part of my testimony has escaped Mr. Daniels' attention. It has showed that I had recommended for awards about three percent of all of the officers serving ashore and about 14 percent, or nearly five times as many of those serving on sea.

Sims denied he had any orders not to receive the medal from England until after it was bestowed.

"Since the secretary wishes to point to my alleged sympathy with the British, I will say something on this point," Sims said.

"When the battleship fleet entered in the English channel in 1913, I saw many of my old friends whom I knew since an attache in France.

"I foresaw the great war and in making the Guildhall speech predicted it would come in four years.

"I predicted that France and England would join and that Italy would come in. Because of this report and the fact I married a Canadian woman should be no reason why I should be charged with English sympathies and my children called un-American." Sims declared.

"The number of destroyer captains whose cases were passed upon by me personally was 112.

"Number of these destroyer captains I recommended for awards, 112.

"Number of these destroyer captains who were denied awards by the department, 22.

"Taking all the officers who commanded seagoing vessels under my command, battleships, mine layers, destroyers, yachts, cruisers, gunboats and so forth, at least 90 percent were recommended for awards.

"From the above it will be seen that one hundred percent of the destroyer commanders were recommended for awards and was 90 percent of the commanders of all seagoing vessels.

"Surely, this does not mean, as Mr. Daniels says that 'I overestimate the importance of shore duty and fail to recognize fully the perils and the responsibilities of officers and men in war whose lives are in jeopardy every hour.'

I am, however, at a loss to understand why in view of the secretary's opinion as to the relative merits of sea and shore service the department should have refused to grant twenty-two of the awards I recommended for destroyer officers, and also a number of the awards I recommended for the officers of the other sea-going ships, not to mention the number of awards that were changed."

ALLIGERVILLE

Alligerville, Feb 10.—Alva J. DeWitt, who has spent the winter with his parents, Mr and Mrs H B DeWitt, returned to Brazil, S. A. last week, sailing from New York Thursday morning. Mme. Lipkowska.

Mme. Lydia Lipkowska, a Russian operatic soprano with the Boston Opera Company before the war, arrived in New York recently with her husband, Lieutenant Pierre Bodin, aboard the Adriatic. She told a romantic story of their first meeting in Odessa, when Lieutenant Bodin rescued her from the "Reds," and their flight by night on a ship to escape the Bolsheviki. Disguised as a servant, Mme Lipkowska with the aid of her husband and other French officers, succeeded in reaching Constantinople. After a week there it was decided to return to Odessa to rescue the daughter of Mme. Lipkowska. A small fishing schooner was hired and Lieutenant Bodin and some of his brother officers, with Mme Lipkowska, disguised themselves as fishing folk and returned to Odessa. It was a week before they were able to find the girl. Finally they located her and were able to take her to the fishing boat. As they were leaving the harbor the Bolsheviki fired upon them but their shots went wild.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to the Freeman

New York, Feb. 10—There was a further easing off in prices at the opening of the stock market today, when declines of from fractions to over four points were suffered in all the active issues. Steel Common yielded over 1 point to 99¼. Baldwin Locomotive fell 2¼ to 110½; Republic Steel 1⅜ to 105⅝ and Bethlehem Steel B 1⅜ to 89⅞. The shipping stocks were in supply, Marine Common falling 2¼ to 27¾, the preferred to 80¾; Atlantic Gulf 4¾ to 145¼ and American International 2¼ to 94¼. General Motors yielded 5 points to 260. Chandler Motors fell 3 points to 129 and Pierce Arrow 1¾ to 57¼. Mexican Petroleum was the weakest of the oils, dropping 3 points to 171, while Middle States Oil fell 2 points to 26⅝. The railroad stocks were also under pressure, Rock Island dropping 1¾ to 24¾; Reading 1¼ to 69 and Southern Pacific 1 point to 93⅝. Losses of 2 points were sustained in U. S. Rubber, Goodrich and International Paper.

There was an improved tone to the market during the forenoon Steel Common rallied to 100; Baldwin Locomotive to 112 and Crucible over 2 points to 213. Marine Common sold up to 30 and the preferred rallied over 1 point to 81¼. Mexican Petroleum rallied 4 points from the low to 174 and Middle States Oil recovered 4 points to 30½. General Motors after falling to 255 rose to 263 and similar recoveries were made in the other motor issues. The railroad stocks were quiet. The leather stocks were under pressure, American Hide and Leather Preferred falling 3 points and Endicott-Johnson 4 points to 123.

Another wave of liquidation forced prices down to practically the low levels of the day during the early afternoon.

The market suffered a severe drop in the afternoon but rallied somewhat when the call money rate dropped 6 per cent. In the early afternoon most of the leading issues were offered in large blocks. Steel Common dropped to 98¾, followed by a rally to 98⅝. Crucible Steel dropped to 207⅝ and then jumped to 213. American International fell 4½ to 92 Central Leather broke to a new low for the year of 79¼. Mexican Petroleum fell nearly 6 points to 168¼ and Pan American Petroleum was 4 points lower at 76½. General Motors after falling over 14 points to 251½ recovered to 256. Royal Dutch dropped nearly 5 points to 95¼.

She had many friends in the town of Rosendale and in this city, being a lady of fine character ever ready to assist in charitable work.

Frank S. Thompson, a retired stove dealer and tinsmith, and most respected citizen, died suddenly about 5:30 o'clock Monday evening at the tailoring establishment of Supervisor Charles A. Schermerhorn, 268 Fair street. The cause of death was heart disease. Mr. Thompson is survived by a wife, who before marriage was Eliza, daughter of the late William Van Aken, who lived on Pearl street in the stone residence later the home of Julia Dillon, the artist, and a daughter, Julia. He was about 73 years of age. While in conversation with Eliakim S. Whitney, in the Schermerhorn store, he was overcome with the fatal attack, his head falling over. Gould Smith hurried to the office of Dr. Frank A. Johnston nearly opposite, in the Weisburg building, who quickly arrived and found Mr. Thompson dead. Coroner W. N. Conner was notified who turned the body over to A. Carr & Son, undertakers, Rev. A. S. Cole, pastor of the Albany Avenue Baptist Church of which deceased had for years been a consistent member, also was notified and informed Mrs. Thompson of the sudden death of her husband. Mr. Thompson conducted a stove store on North Front street near Crown for about forty years, succeeding the late James McIntyre. About nine years ago, because of failing health he turned his business over to William P. Burhans, who had been a faithful employe for a long time, and still conducts the business. He has a brother, also a tinsmith in New Jersey, also sisters.

Just the Man!

While at a dance one evening I made the acquaintance of a young man who asked to take me home. While talking about different things, we came upon the subject of religion. He told me he was quite a church member and had attended church regularly. My folks being rather religious themselves I said, without thinking: "You are just the kind of a son-in-law my people are looking for." Then I woke up and tried to square myself.—Exchange.

Survivors of "Princess Anne"

After thirty-six terrifying hours aboard the Princess Anne, aground off Rockaway, the 105 passengers of the vessel were taken off and brought to New York. Here is shown three of the passengers who were among the rescued arriving at the Battery, Mr. and Mrs. David Pasternach, who were on their honeymoon, and Miss Miriam Kane. It is feared the vessel will be a total loss, as it is gradually sinking deeper into the shoals.

HEBREWS PLAN $25,000 CLUB

Architect Betz's Preliminary Drawing for Proposed Social Building of Hebrew Society on Post Street on Exhibition in Kaplan's Store Window on Strand.

Leading Hebrews are planning to raise $25,000 to erect a social building for the Hebrew Society on Post street, and preliminary plans drawn by Architect Gerard W. Betz are now being exhibited in the show window of Louis Kaplan's furniture store on the Strand. A committee of prominent Hebrews has been appointed to arrange plans for the campaign, which will shortly be inaugurated to raise the necessary funds. The proposed building will be an ornament to the downtown section of the city. It will be two stories high and the second floor will be the auditorium, with a stage. This will be 40 by 50 feet not including the stage proper. The first floor will be devoted to lounging rooms, and the entire building will be modern throughout.

TWO STRANGE MEN WERE SEEN

In Vicinity of Dr. Levitas's Dental Parlors, Which Were Robbed Sunday Afternoon—Little Boy Peeking Through Key Hole Saw Men Rob Safe.

More details of the Sunday afternoon robbery of the dental parlors of Dr. Samuel T. Levitas on Broadway, corner Mill street, developed this morning when Dr. Levitas was seen. He has been confined to his home with a severe attack of the flu, and has not entirely recovered his strength as yet. Dr. Levitas checked up Monday afternoon and found that in addition to the $175 in cash the amount of gold taken would bring his loss up to $300. He carried no theft insurance, and the loss is a total one.

Dr. Levitas sedom keeps any large amount in his office safe, and has intended depositing the amount stolen but was taken ill before he had done so. He said that the money and gold stolen were kept in a strong box in the safe, and the door had been forced. The robbers in their hurry did not make a thorough cleanup and left some valuable jewelry as well as Liberty Bonds and War Saving Stamps behind.

On the same floor across the hall from Dr. Levitas's suite of rooms are the apartments of Louis Rosenzweig, ladies' tailor at No. 366 Broadway. His little son Paul, 10 years old, saw two strange men in the hallway. It is said that the little chap, peeking through the keyhole saw the men at work on the safe, but did not think they were up to any mischief. The description as given by Paul has been supplied the police.

It is said that this is the third attempt to rob the dental offices, the others having unsuccessful.

SOCIETY NOTES.

Postponed D. A. R. Meeting.

The regular February meeting of Wiltwyck Chapter, D. A. R., which was postponed from last week on account of the storm, will be held on Thursday of this week at 3 o'clock at the Chapter House. The Rev. Dr. Putnam Cady will be the speaker for the afternoon and his subject will be "Practical Patriotism."

Monday Club.

The Monday Club met with Mrs. Kenyon again this week, and Mrs. Joseph M. Fowler had a very interesting paper on "Cathedrals—St. Etienne de Bourges; Notre Dame at St. Omer." The subject for study next year was further discussed and will be voted upon at the next meeting, which will be held with Mrs. William Lawton.

Twentieth Century Club.

The Twentieth Century Club members were the guests of Mrs. Putnam Cady this week. Following the roll call, "One Minute Sketches of Great Men of Poland." Mrs. Wood had the paper for the afternoon, in the absence of Mrs. Talbot, who is ill. The paper was an excellent one on "Extracts on the Mexican Problem." The next regular meeting will be with Mrs. Harrison.

Soikanishade Club.

The Soikanishade Club met this week with Mrs. Niles at her home on Smith avenue. Considerable time was profitably devoted to the discussion of current events. As Mrs. Vernon Hull, who was to have had the paper for the day, had been called out of town by sickness, Mrs. R. E. Leighton read a paper prepared by her earlier in the season but which she could not read at the time because of illness. The paper was an admirable presentation of the subject, "Santiago, the City of St. James: Valparaiso: Iquique." Next week the club will meet with Mrs. C. E. Drake and all members who were not in attendance at the meeting on Monday are asked to take note of the fact that the meeting will be in the afternoon at 3 o'clock and not in the evening, as originally planned.

Peggy Baker

Peggy Baker, daughter of Secretary of War Newton D. Baker, who will take an important part in the American pageant and ball to be given by the Navy League of the United States in Washington on the night of Lincoln's Birthday, February 12. Miss Baker, as Peggy Ryan, will play in a scene depicting one of the most historic incidents in the history of the State of Ohio. The pageant which will follow the annual convention of the Navy League in Washington, February 11 and 12, will be started by more than 600 people representing every state in the Union. The majority of the participants will be the direct lineal descendants of the characters they represent.

THIRD POLITICAL PARTY FORMING

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Chicago, Feb. 10.—The liberal and reactionary forces of the country are to be split into two camps by a third party.

Plans for the formation of the new party were announced here today by J. A. Hopkins, chairman of the national executive committee of forty-eight. Hopkins, who is to have charge of the creation of sentiment for the new party, is to be joined here tomorrow by George L. Record and Amos Pinchot, other leaders of the movement.

Before the end of the week, Hopkins announced, they expect to enlist the support of a score of "liberal" or "radical" bodies which will hold conferences in the middle west. The Non-Partisan League, the Farmers' Association, various brotherhoods, the new Labor party, single taxers and many others, according to Hopkins, are to be gathered into the ranks of the new party.

"We will be a second party, not a third party," said Hopkins.

"The Republicans and Democrats are the same thing. It will be a party based purely on an economic platform."

R., is cordially invited.

UNIVERSAL TRAINING DEAD

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Feb. 10.—Leaders in congress expressed the belief today that universal military training is dead, at least so far as the present session of congress is concerned. The action of the house Democrats in voting against such a measure by 196 to 17 was believed to have doomed the plan for the time being. There was a great deal of comment today over the Democrats' action, as it was taken in the face of a request from the president that it be postponed.

At the White House today the action of the house Democrats was not admitted to be a rebuff to the president. Instead, White House officials predicted that it was the beginning of the end of General Wood's candidacy for president. They declared that it was evident that the action was taken for self-protection and indicated a strong sentiment against universal training, which has been largely due to the influence of women.

PAY FOR BOMBING.

Bill Would Make State Settle for Damage to Nott Home.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 10.—The state is called upon to pay damages for the bombing by alleged "reds" of the house of Justice Charles Nott, Jr., of the court of special sessions, New York city, in June last, by a bill introduced in the senate today by Senator Julius Miller of the Bronx. The measure would authorize the state court of claims to determine the amount of damages to be awarded the justice and admits the liability of the state.

MINSTREL SO GOOD IT MUST BE REPEATED

Legion Men Aided by Young Ladies and Ralph Mann Put on Show That is Hard to Beat—Performances Tonight and Wednesday Night.

The Over the Top Minstrels given by the members of Kingston Post, No 150, American Legion, at Kingston Opera House last evening, scored one of the biggest hits of any amateur show ever given in Kingston. At the close of the first part Thomas F. Coughlin announced that on account of the large number of tickets sold and the demand for still more, it had been found necessary to give a third performance of the show on Wednesday night at the Opera House in order that all those who had purchased tickets might be given an opportunity to see the "greatest" minstrel show ever put on in the city. All those who purchased tickets and could not secure seats for either Monday evening or tonight may exchange them for seats for Wednesday night's show. There will be more tickets on sale for the show Wednesday evening.

From the first number by the entire company down to the last song the show was a success. Everyone of the company took their part like a professional and it would be difficult to name one individual who starred, for everyone of the entire company was a star. Thomas Dolan sang "I Love You Just the Same, Sweet Adeline," as no one but Dolan could sing it. Coy R. Rives in "Shake, Rattle and Roll," with his gestures and antics, brought forth a roar of applause. Samuel Affron sang "I Know What It Means to be Lonesome" and Peter McCutcheon "Shimmie Shakers Ball." Both were called back to repeat it.

The one number which was different and caused round after round of applause was "Freckles," sung by William J. Radell and Miss Marie McCarthy. This number was perhaps the most popular with the audience which packed every seat in the house. Miss McCarthy was called out time and again before the audience would let her go.

Following Thomas Murray's "All the Quakers are Shoulder Shakers." Tommy Dolan and Bill Newkirk, the "premier ends," came on in a whirl of action and fun and from that time on the "premiers" kept the house roaring with their funny antics and jokes. One thing which can be said of both these men as well as the others, every one of their jokes was new; there was not a dead one among them.

Following a round of snappy jokes Bill Newkirk sang "Oh, Lady, Lady" and James R. Palen with his wonderful bass voice sang "Asleep in the Deep." "At the High Brow Baby's Ball," by Peter Jordan, and "Hand in Hand Again," sung by Lester C. Elmendorf, were both well given. The closing number of the first part of the program followed Thomas Dolan's "You Ain't Heard Nothing Yet"

Thomas F. Coughlin, as interlocutor, filled the center position on the stage as no one else could have. In a clear voice and with a professional bearing Mr. Coughlin announced the musical numbers and led on the end men with their jokes and pranks.

Peter Jordan, Jack Rives and Harry Giles as "Bones," and Peter McCutcheon, Thomas Murray and John Palisi as "Tambos," kept things merry with their humor and fun. There is only one way to appreciate these funny black-face men and that is to go to the show and see and hear them.

The music was supplied by Shurter's orchestra, with Corporal Harry G. Maisenholder as director. The other members in the circle forming the chorus were Samuel Affron, Lester C. Elmendorf, Francis I. Elston, J. Harold Cunningham, Matthew E. Deegan, Thomas Edwards, William J. Radell, William Jordan, Edward J. Perry, James R. Palen, Samuel Basch, James Doyle, Philip H. Ryan, Thomas Dolan, Charles Styles.

The second half of the program was the surprise of the evening. After a selection "Dardanella" by Shurter's orchestra, Ralph Mann entertained with his balancing stunts. With the grace and ease of a professional Mr. Mann came on the stage and without a hitch balanced a fifteen foot step-ladder on his chin and then just to show how easy it was placed a lamp on the lower end of a horse-whip and placing the lash end of it on his chin calmly folded his arms and walked across the stage. Those who have seen Ralph in his balancing stunts before knew what he can do and last night was no exception.

James Fitzgerald, Clyde Roosa and Percy Broadhead, as the Dixie Trio, in harmony singing and dancing were great. Not only could this trio sing but they could dance and not only could they dance but they were funny. The audience was kept in a roar of laughter at their odd melodies and fancy steps. Time after time they were called back to repeat and each time they gave something new and even better than before.

The program is brought to a close with a musical comedy burlesque entitled, "Yankee Doodle". The scene is laid on the Mexican border in a U. S. Army camp.

Captain Brown of the U. S. A., (William Newkirk) is everything that an army officer should be and Edward J. Perry as "Major Cement" is everything that an army officer ought not to be. This act must be seen to be appreciated and is full of laughs from start to finish. Thomas J. Murray as Isidore Cohen is the real article. His acting was one of the features of the entire act and brought round after round of applause. Cohen does not like the idea of joining the army until he catches sight of the pretty Red Cross Nurses, then he decides and decides quick. Cohen on sentry duty is great and Major Cement as officer of the guard is, well see him to appreciate it.

John Palisi, as Sambo Johnston, the camp cook comes in for his share of the fun

Miss Mary A. Oulton, Miss Kathryn Harmon, Miss Marie Clark, Miss Anna Affron and Miss Catherine Matthews appear dressed as Red Cross nurses and every one of the "nurses" can sing. The opening song of the act is "Give Me Just a Little Smile" by Captain Brown and nurses. "Golden Gate" sung by Sambo and nurses and "Nobody But You" by Captain Brown and Miss Kathryn Clark as Viola, were both well rendered. Miss Anna Affron in the final solo of the act sings that one song which every soldier can appreciate, "The Rose of No Man's Land." The act is brought to a close by the grand finale, "That Grand Old Gentleman, Uncle Sam" by Viola and entire company when Uncle Sam makes his appearance.

The costumes are the best ever seen in town and set off the entire company. The members of the circle are dressed during the first act in Colonial costumes and the end men as well as "Bones" and "Tambo" appear in very gorgeous satin garments of red and green with wide wing collars and flowing cravats. The two "premier" end men are costumed in grotesque white costumes which in themselves are enough to provoke laughter.

The entire program will be repeated this evening with a third performance Wednesday evening

Nazimova Again Tonight—"The Better 'Ole" Thursday.

The great Nazimova delighted the audiences at Keeney's yesterday in "The Brat" and another chance will be given tonight at the same playhouse to see this most talented of actresses in the play which seems to fit her exactly. Tommorow, Vivian Martin in "The Third Kiss."

Dorothy Dalton, the popular Ince favorite, will come to the Auditorium tonight in a good hair-raising mining camp melodrama—the kind of picture that made her a star. No one can do this subject quite as well as Miss Dalton. Also a Mack Sennett comedy.

An attraction with the record of over a year on Broadway and with the entire original company is in itself a magnet of unusual calibre, but theatregoers may be assured that such will be the case when "The Better 'Ole," is revealed here on Thursday, matinee and night, Lincoln's birthday at the Kingston Opera House.

Old Bill, "The Walrus," Bert, otherwise known as "Don Jonah" and Alf, the "Strike-a-Light King"—here they are, pretty much as you have known them, or ought to have known them, in the Bairnsfather drawings—"grousing" and joking their way through the mud, dangers and discomforts gastronomic and linguistic of the late war as seen through the consciousness of the average Tommy.

LEONARD-DUNDEE BOUT UNDECISIVE

As Result of Monday's Bout Fans Are Satisfied That Only a Long Battle Will Tell Which is Better Man.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Feb. 10.—Benny Leonard and Johnny Dundee will never settle their feud to the satisfaction of the boxing public in a short, no-decision bout.

This is the concensus of opinion among boxing fans in this section today, following the eighth meeting between the lightweight champion and his foremost challenger in Jersey City.

As a spectacle the Leonard-Dundee scrap could scarcely have been improved. It was a whirlwind. Dundee fought with the apparent furiousness of a demon. He made the champion extend himself. But he took an artistic beating.

A master in the art of blocking, Leonard warded off two-thirds of the Italian's sturdy blows, all the while shooting stinging lefts and choppy rights to various parts of Dundee's anatomy. The champion handed Dundee a lacing but he contented himself with that. He did not follow up every advantage.

To Dundee's credit it must be said that he is the most rugged lightweight since the palmy days of Battling Nelson. He is closer knit and stronger than Leonard. Many an old-time boxing fan who saw Dundee at his best last night is of the opinion today that if he only had science he would be a world's champion.

Leonard entered the ring with the Italian with the avowed intention of trying to knock him out. He failed. And today the boxing fans who witnessed the bout are convinced that the only way the feud between the champion and his rival can be settled for all time is over the championship route to a referee's decision.

The Central A. C. Dance.

A large crowd is expected at the dance to be given at St. Mary's Hall on Thursday evening under the auspices of the Central Athletic Club, which is represented in local sports by the champion basketball team known as the Centrals. The athletic club will put on a strong baseball team the coming summer. That the dance will be the best ever is indicated by the engagement of Curt Shurter's singing orchestra, which has a new repertoire of late dance numbers.

Willie Would Be Martyr.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, Feb. 10.—An Exchange Telegraph despatch from Amsterdam today says that the former German crown price has telegraphed to President Wilson and the head of the allied governments, saying he is willing to stand trial instead of the German officers who were demanded by the allies last week. There were nearly 900 names in the allied list including that of the ex-crown prince
